Dear Hiring Professionals,

I am currently pursuing my MFA in Design & Technology at Parsons School of Design. I graduated in 2016 from the University at Albany with a B.S in Information Science (UI/UX Concentration), and Art as minor. I have a special interest in web development and interaction design and I believe that I can be a great asset to the company moving forward. I can easily adapt to new spaces and I'm a quick learner willing to assist and take on any oncoming task head on. I am most certain that I will prove to be a positive influence within your organization.

While at UAlbany, as a junior, I began working with a multicultural marketing agency named boogie as an intern. I managed to become the Lead Front-End Developer and manager of all web related projects. I was involved in a number of projects during my time there, all of which were concentrated around user experience of all mediums for people of all sorts. From local businesses to universities and mayoral candidates, I've been exposed to numerous fields and experienced a lot about professionalism and interaction with clients. Which is just as important as the work you produce for them. As the lead developer I had to be as keen to detail as possible in making sure that the website looks and functions just like the design. Making sure that the user gets the experience and that the message they want to portray with the site isn't lost through bad design and poor functionality. Although I've had difficult times and have sometimes found myself stuck when it comes to new designs or a certain code block, I realized that these are the moments when my skills are tested. They are the moments that allow me to think differently and come up with a new approach.

My online portfolio illustrates some of my skills through work I've done in previous projects and what I am currently working on. I am confident regarding my knowledge of user experience design and I believe I can use this knowledge along with my skills in development to help move projects forward and keep things going. I am available for interview at any time and should you require any further information please do not hesitate to contact me.

Best Regards,
Jason O. Agyekum
